Dave,
look for good times this summer alright!! Hope that there's always "da Surfer Girls"
Ski you at da beach
Alex

Dave
Because this summer and don't take auto
Chop next year,
Bro Dude
Surf

Dave!
its Been alright this year
But next year will be Better because will be in 12 grade & kick Butt!!! most Likely see you in the summer at the Beach or at par-tie's.
take it easy.
Jim Hansen

Dave
It's been a really great year hope you have a great vacation.
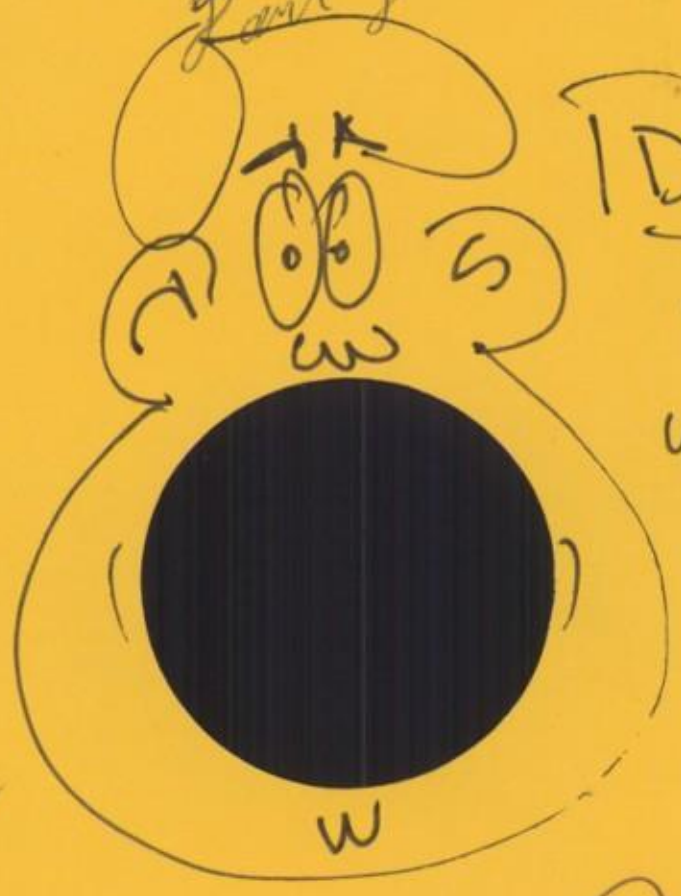
Don't get to high.
Mark



DAVE

You've got a flower in your mouth —
Take Care & come back & visit
Mr Pearson B-6

Dave,
Our encounter
has been limited,
But I'm sure there is room for improvement
Good luck in the future
Mrs Perez
M.P.F.

DAVE
Have A Great
Summer
Lee Hansen

Not even the flower
In all of its beauty and gentleness
Waits to be touched . . .

From one Dare to another have a good one and you know what I mean.
David Barney

. . . it stretches to touch first.

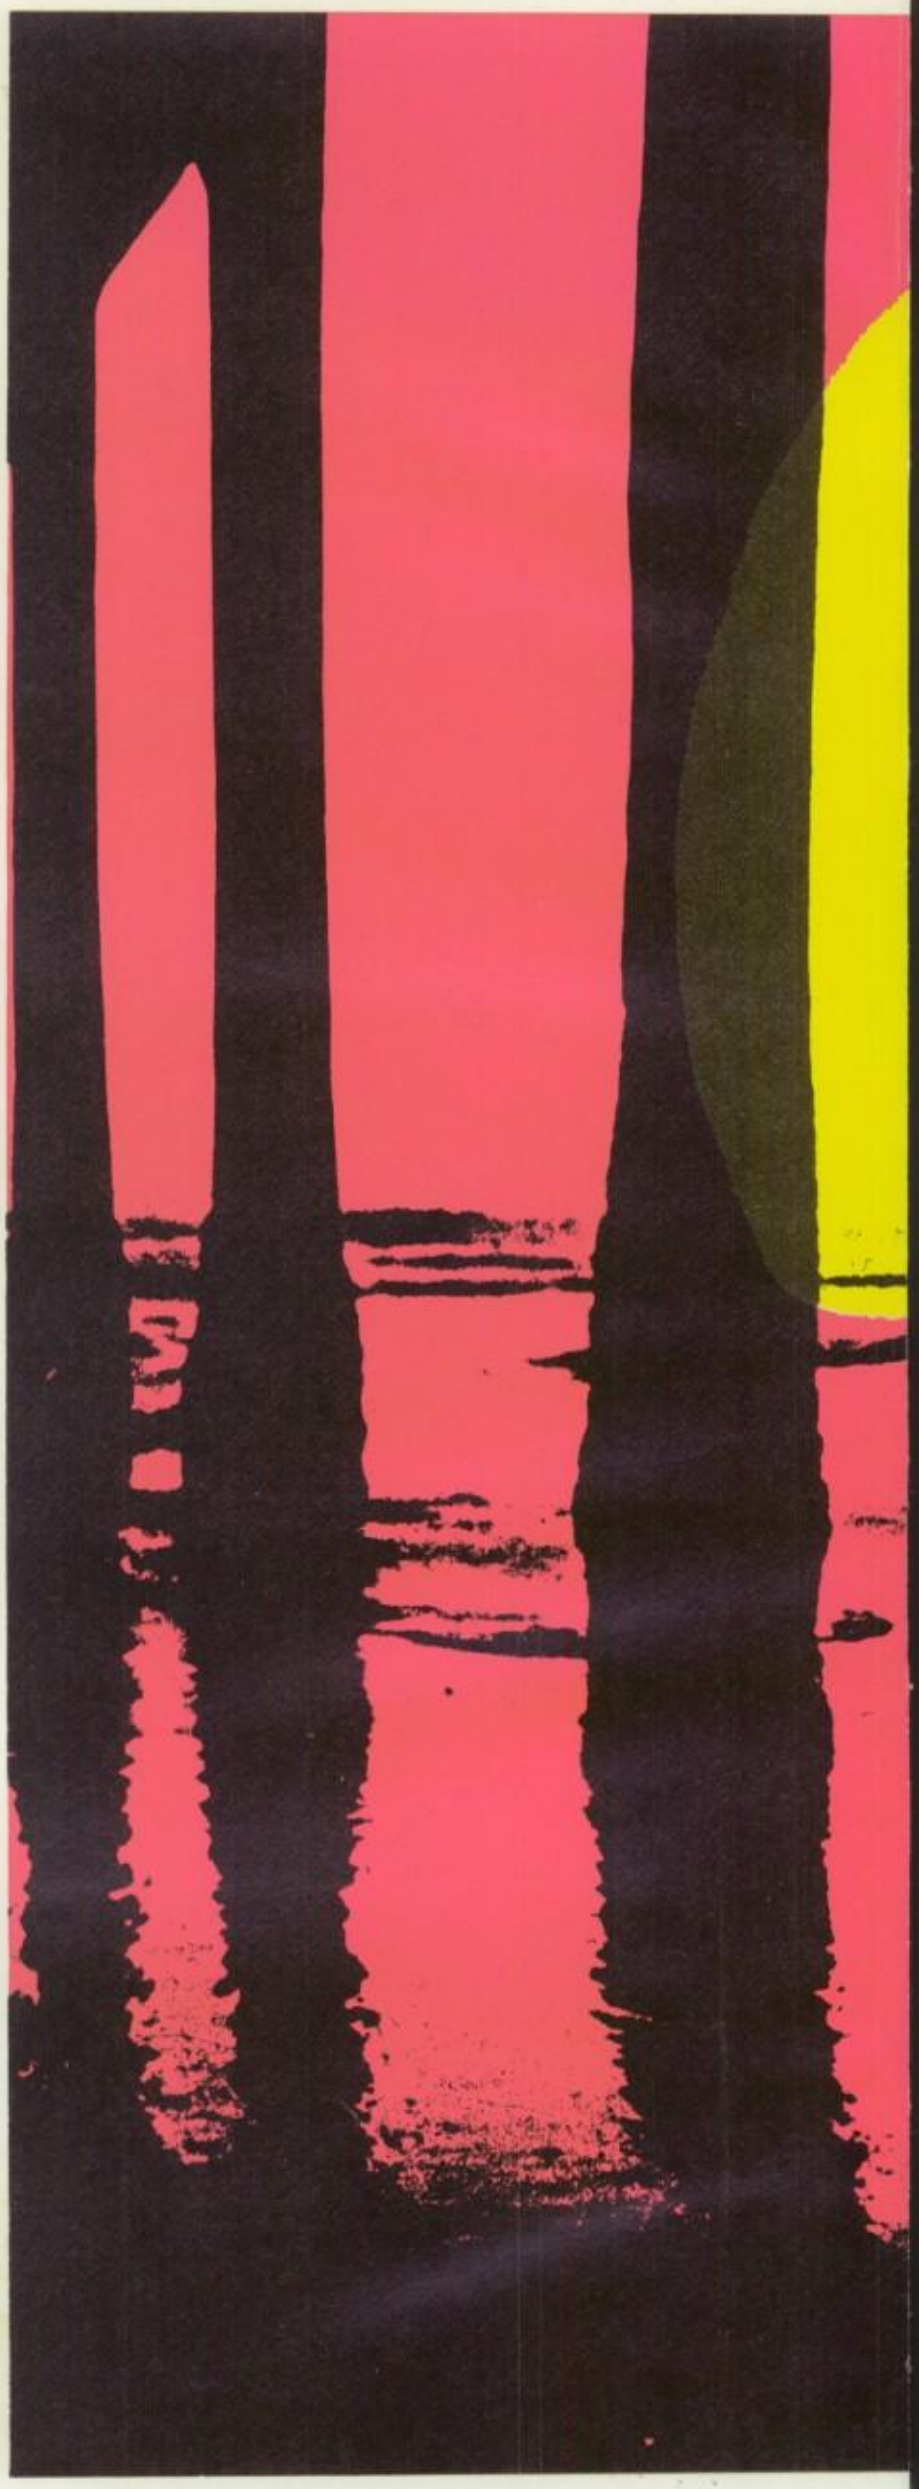
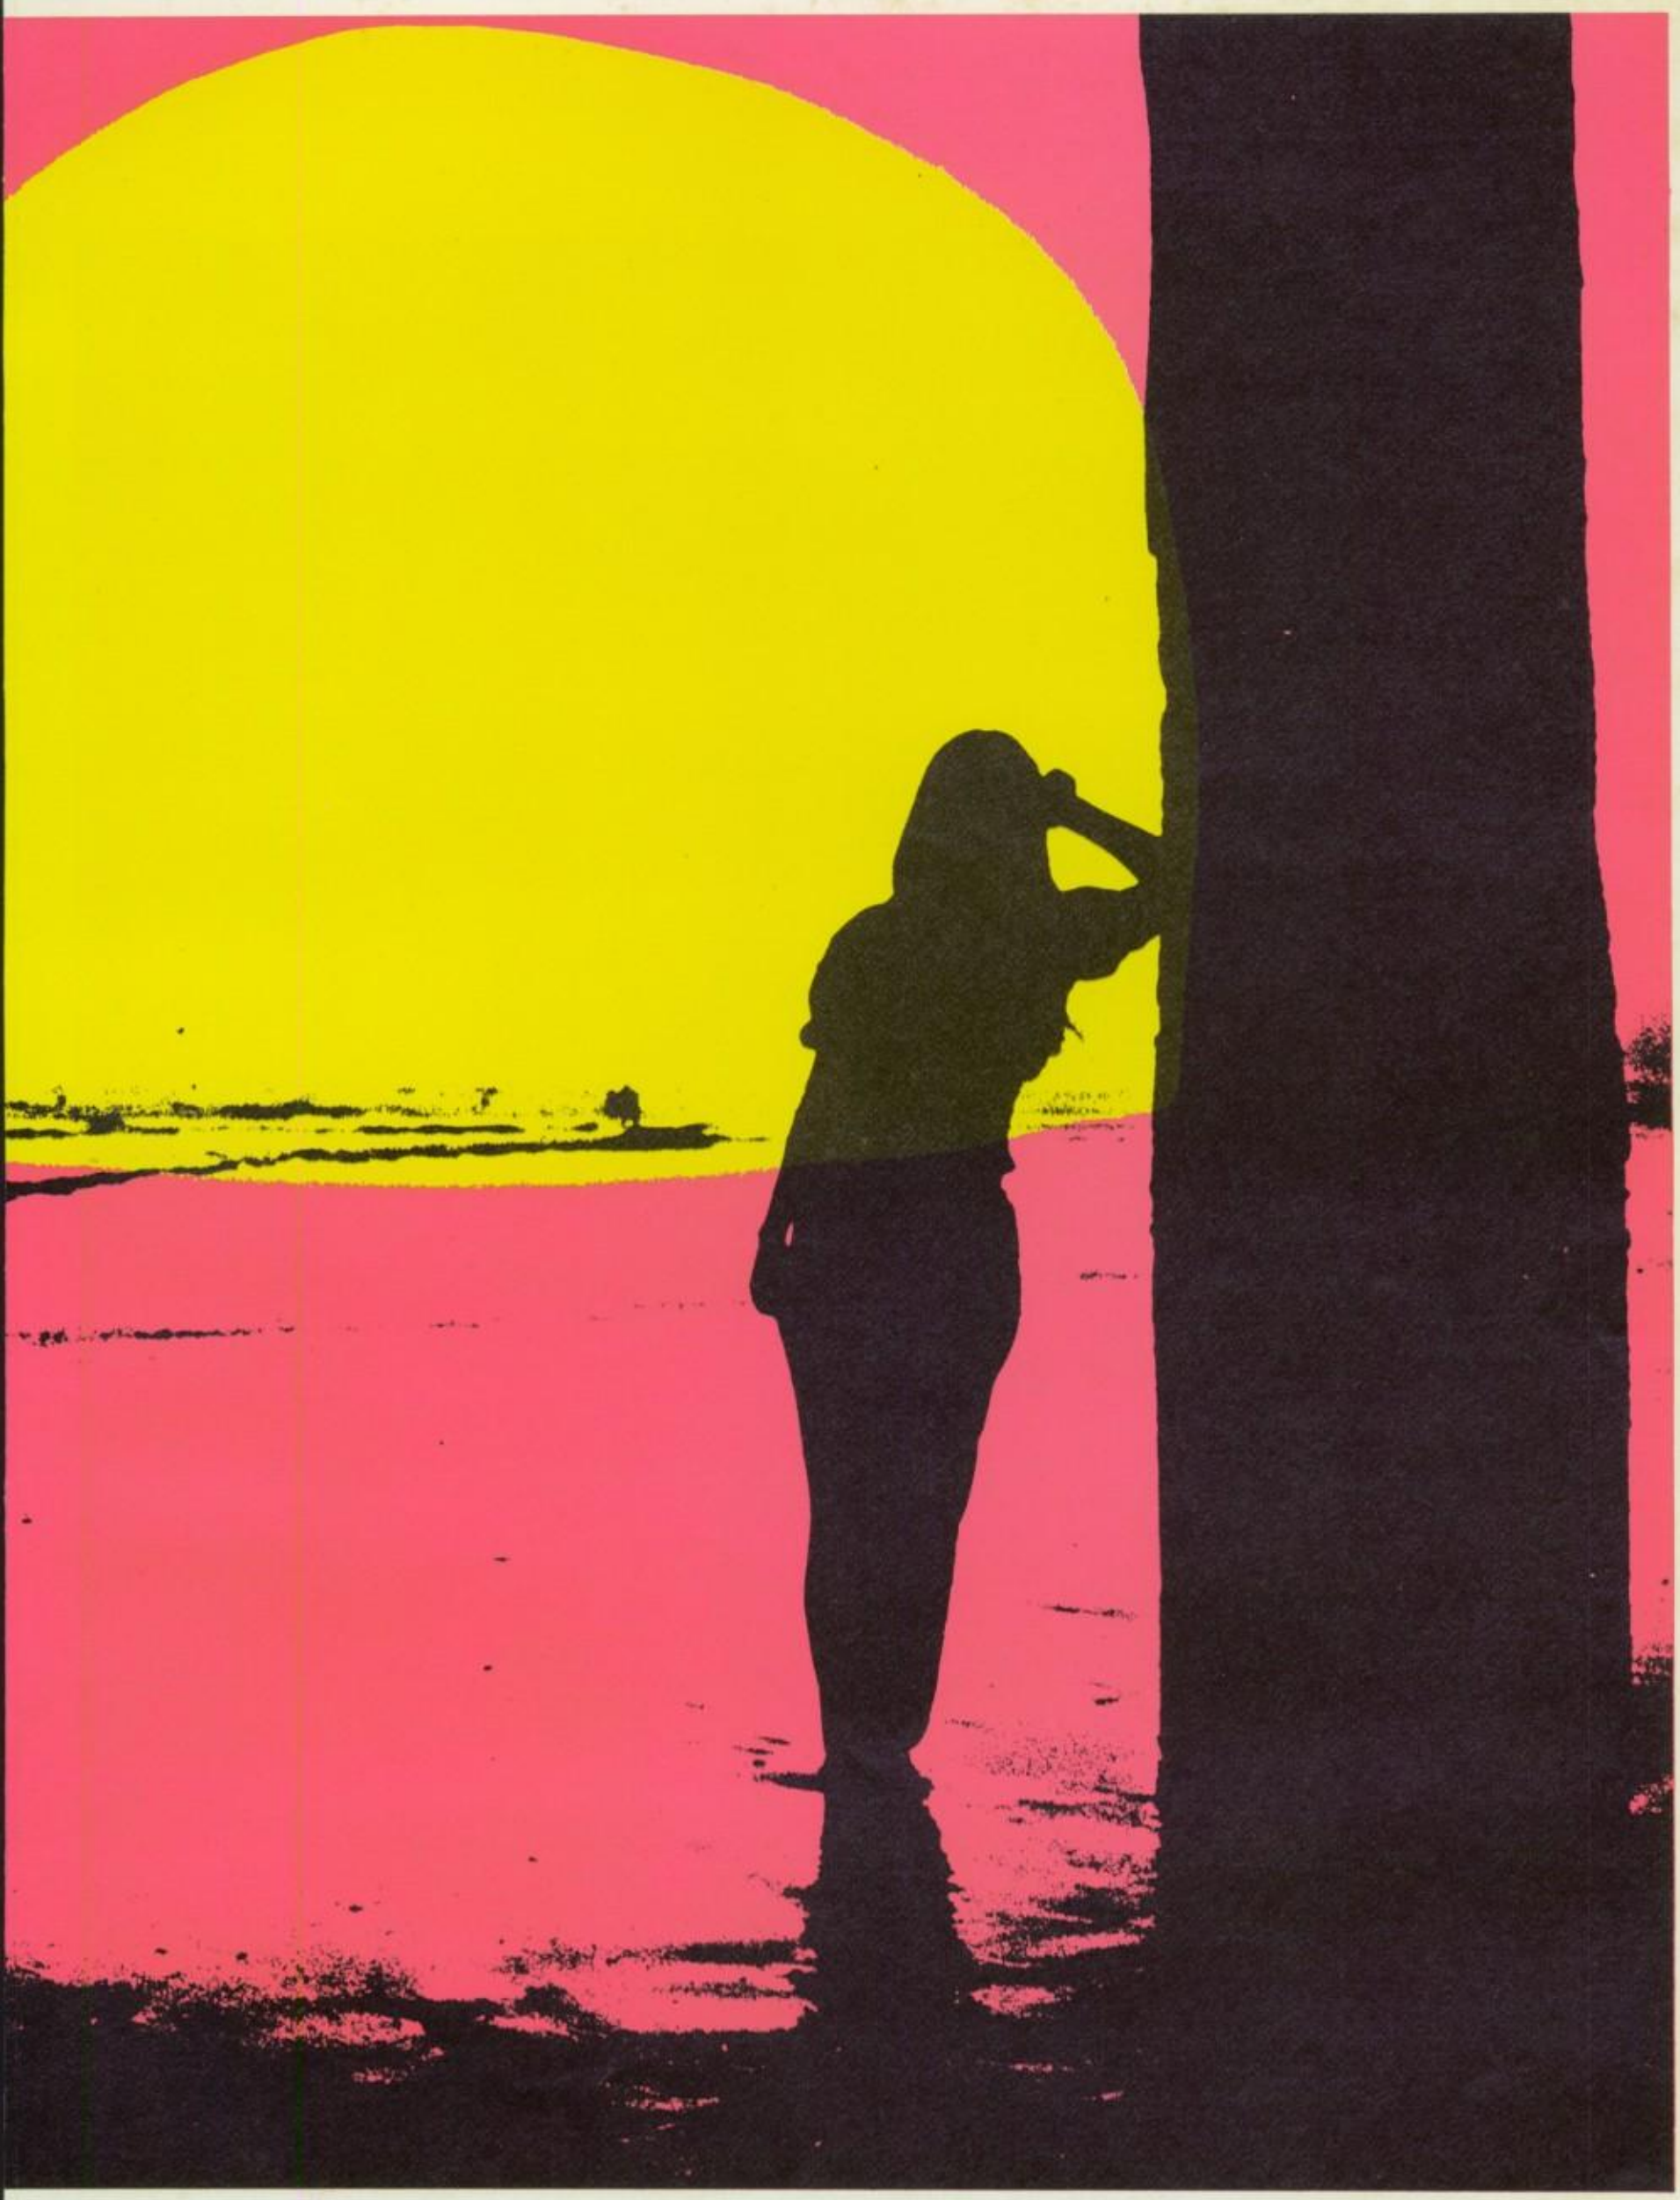
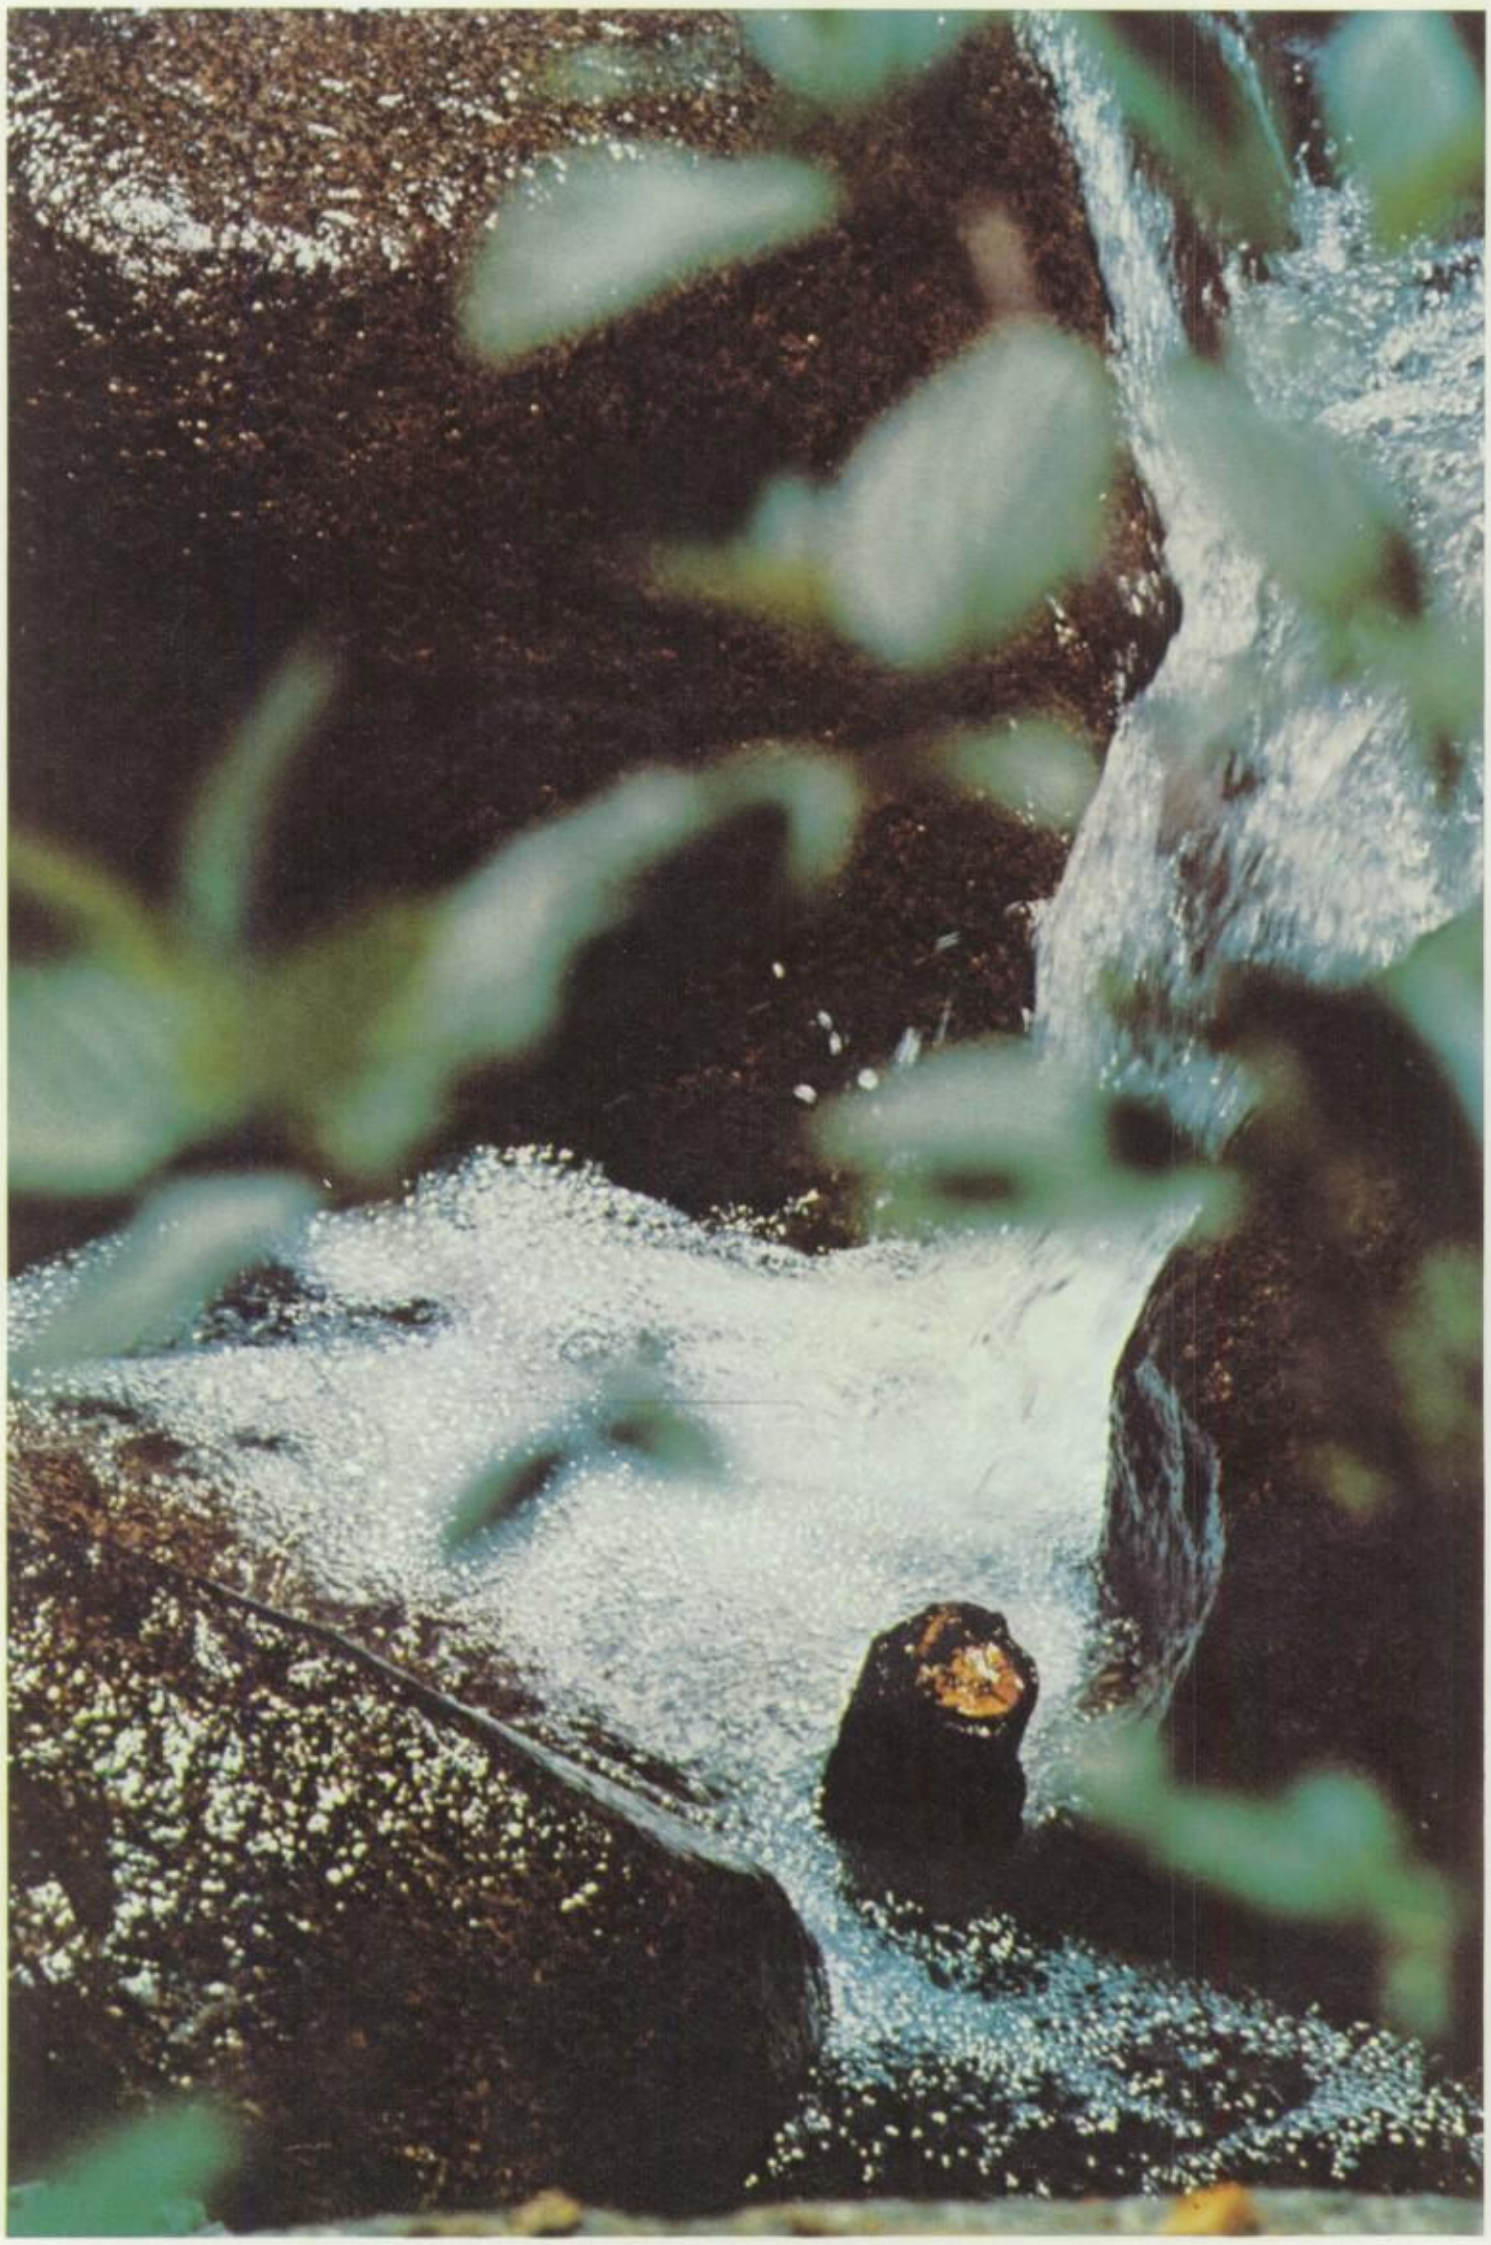
Our special thanks go to Willard Wolf for his creative photography on the cover and introduction, and also to Terry McLafferty for his vibrant poetry. These combined, were the basis for our introduction.







only living things
may touch each other and yet all things live;

rocks are born in the dance of rivers, metal dies
  in the heat of a forge, ice licks and kisses at the seeds of summer plants laid to rest in winter.

only living things
  may touch each other with charity and understanding and yet waves seem pushed by hate and lust, winds and weather carve with a firm hand on the wooden canvas of trees, and mindless summers burn and blister
the grasses and leaves of shade.

Dear David!
It was really a fucked year but thats the way it is so just EAT ME!
Fud

David,
Have a great summer and remember next winter....
DO IT ON THE SNOW!!
Bill Wings

only living things
may touch each other and in the touching feel sharing and know the oneness of pain and the lack of pain, and yet fish are born in the selfless nursery of the sand and seas,

hawks share the skies with the breath of clouds, and the stony silence of the grave listens to its every visitor.
only living things may touch each other.
today I am touched, and touch.
today I live and need no further words.
today I am beautiful until I learn to feel ugly, today I am successful until I remember to fail, today I am loved until I look for hate.
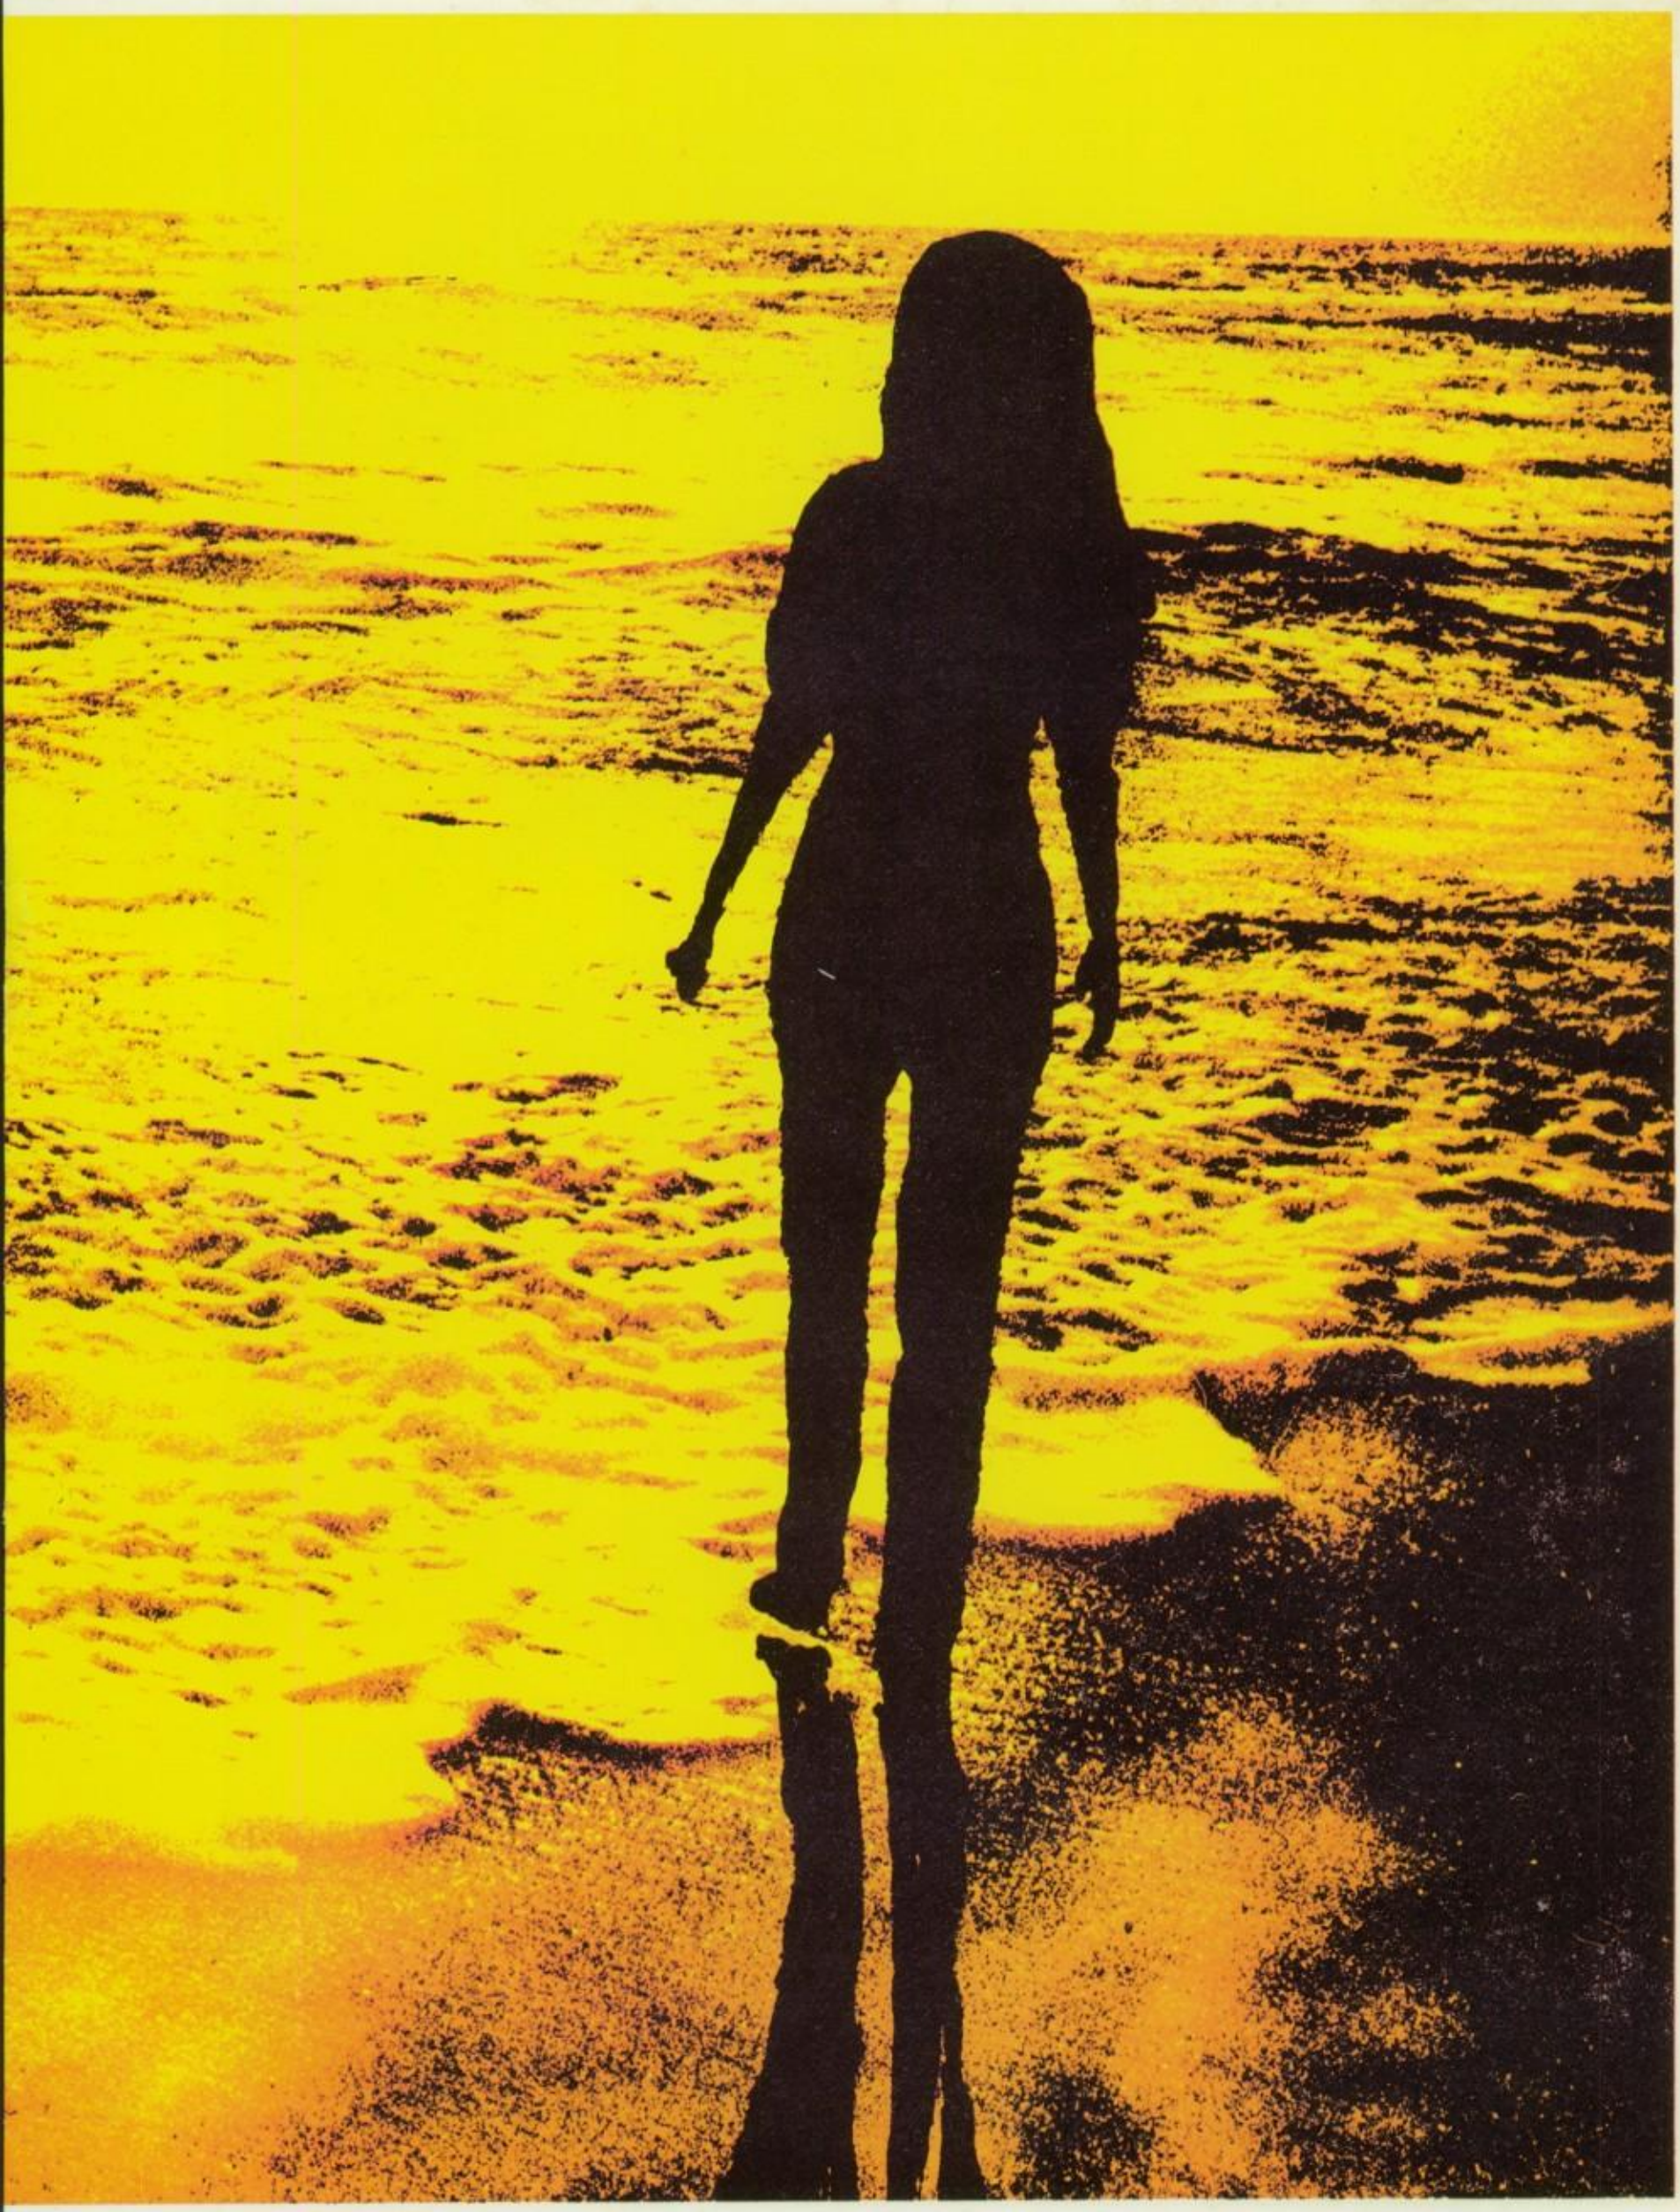
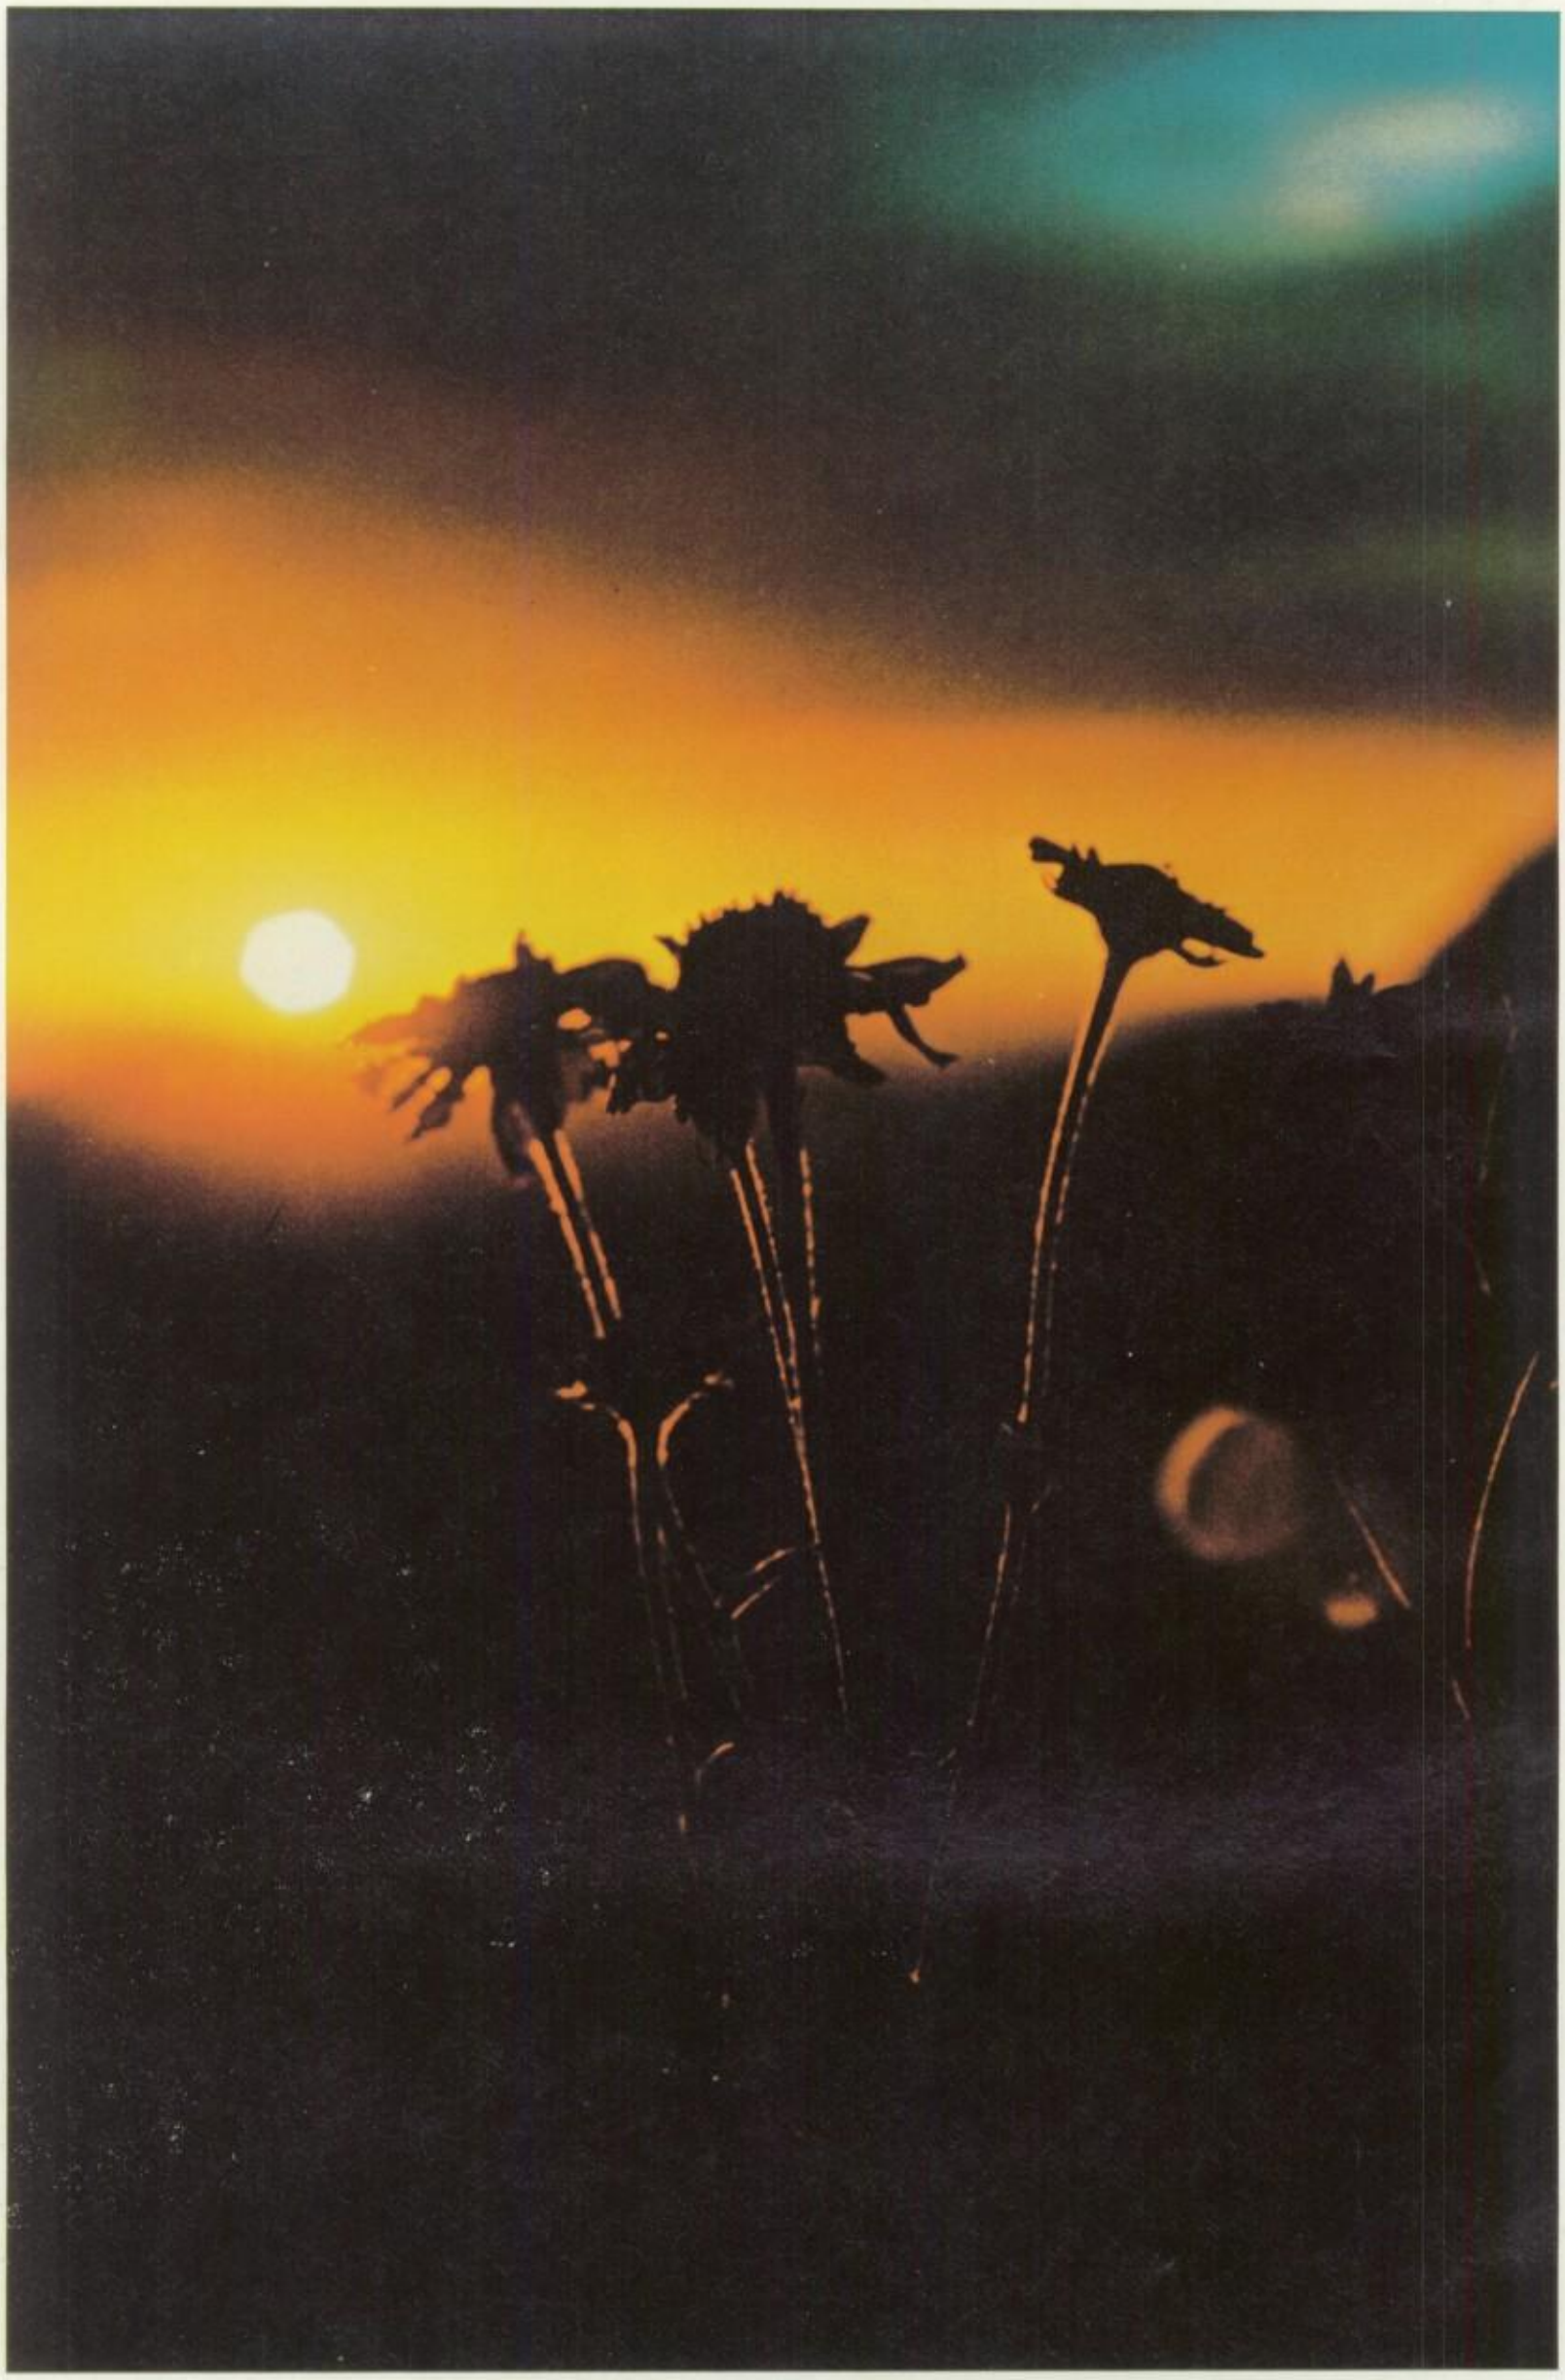
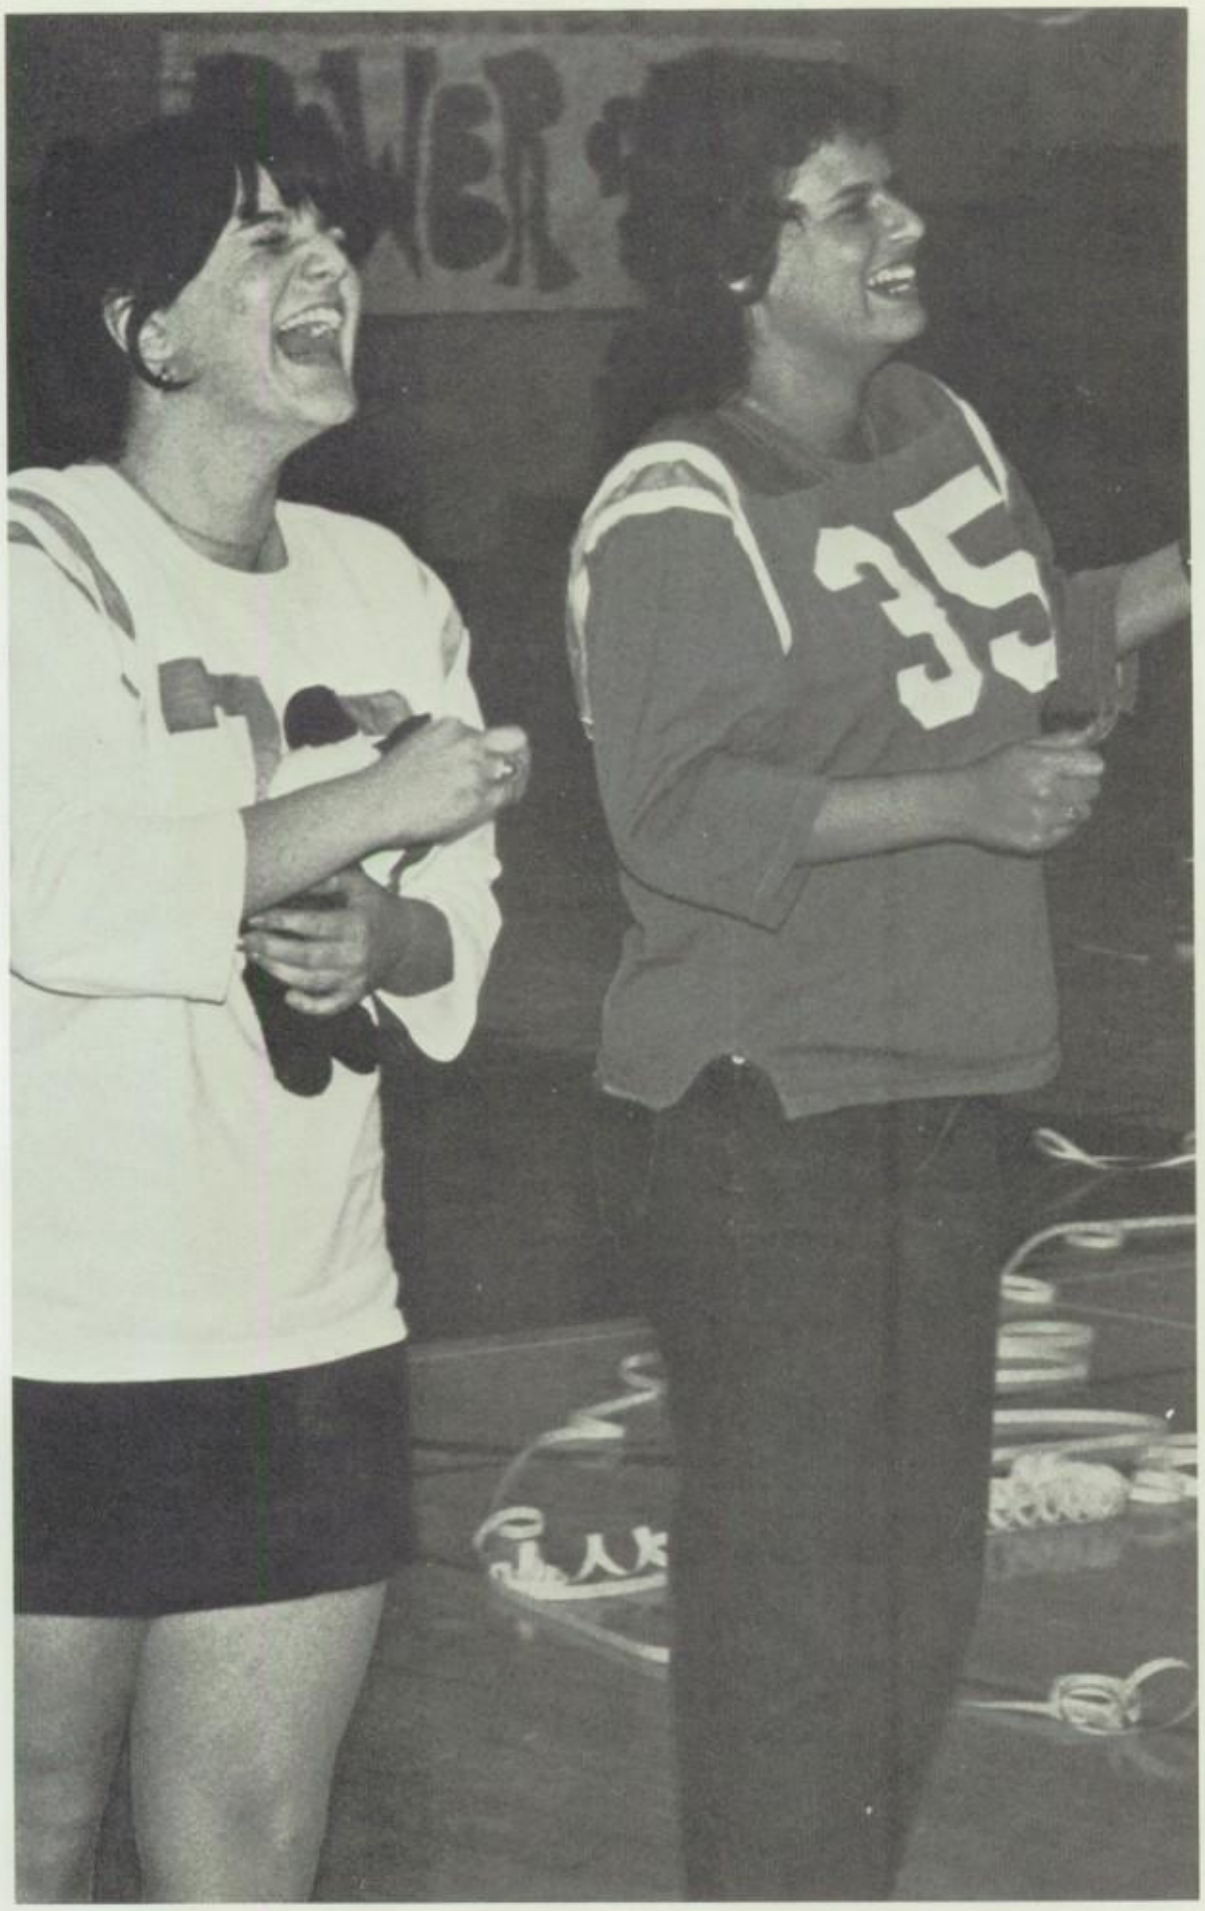
today I live.







Seniors

"We should live for the future, and yet should find our life in the fidelities of the present; the last is the only method of the first."

Mariner of the Year

Bill Graves

Dedication and devotion are the two things that have made Bill Graves the outstanding athlete that he is. Since his sophomore year, Bill has proven to be one of the top distance runners in Southern California in both cross country and track.

Bill has been the top runner on the cross country team for three years and has been selected All-League and All-Orange County for the past two years. He went to CIF this year. Bill has placed at all six invitationals he has attended since his junior year. He has gone undefeated in his last twelve dual meets and was chosen as most valuable player and team captain for the past two years.

In track, Bill has set new school mile records each season since his sophomore year, and was league champ miler as a junior. He ran the seventh fastest mile on Orange County in 1973. In the past years he has been chosen as All-Orange County, Team Captain, and Most Valuable. This year he ran at the Sunkist Invitational and the Times Indoor Meet.

Bill was chosen most athletic by the Senior class. He has won over fifty medals and trophies. Bill has taken this all in stride. The choice of Bill Graves as Mariner of the Year is indeed a worthy one.

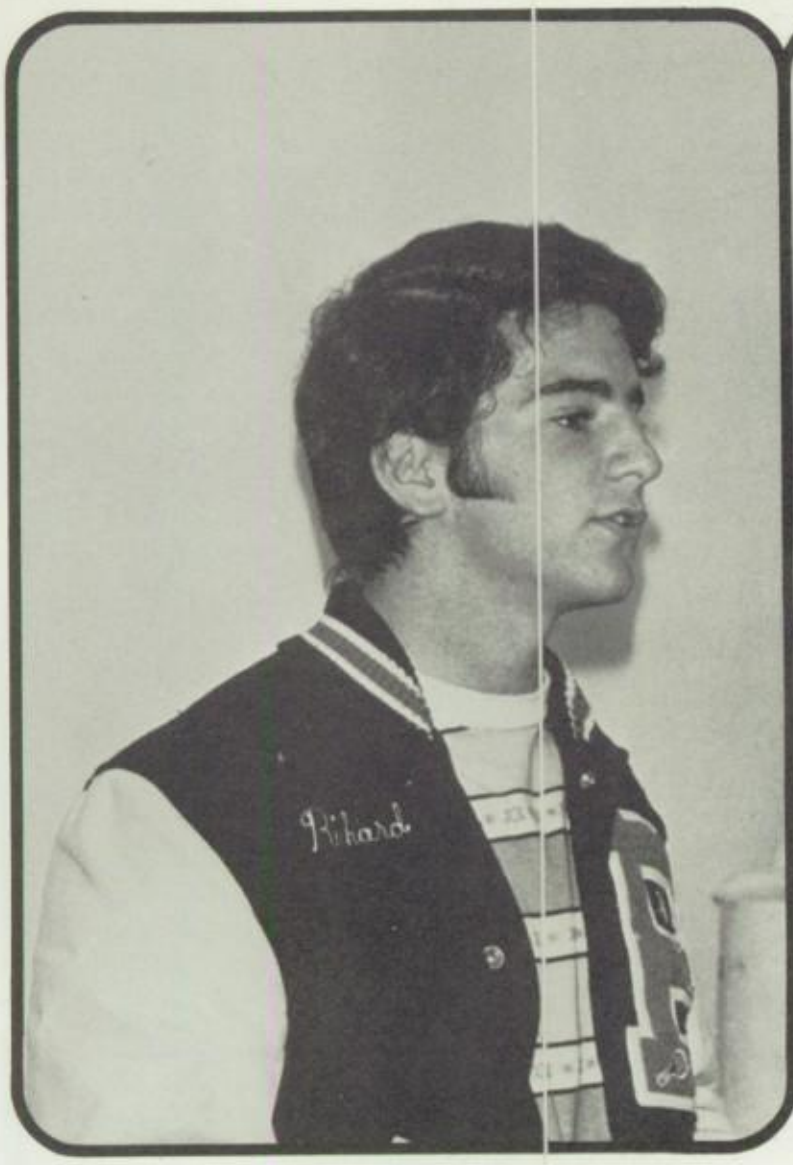
In the field of athletics, girls are becoming more and more important. Their achievements often times equal or surpass men. We are proud to award Mariner of the Year to Joan Perry. Joan's many accomplishments in her years at Pacifica were topped off this year by serving as president of the Ski Club, a club Joan formed last fall to encourage a sport she has enjoyed for over 4 years. She also served on the GAA swim team in her junior year. Joan learned to dive at a young age and practiced with the Varsity diving team as a junior. She currently teaches swimming to emotionally handicapped children at lunch, and has taken part in water ballet for 2 years.

Aside from the sports she participates in at school, Joan enjoys sailing, ice skating, tennis, body surfing and horseback riding.

Joan is a prime example of athletic excellence among not just the girls at Pacifica, but all Mariners. We're proud of you, Joan.

Joan Perry

Most Worthy Mariners



Rich Fried

Rich Fried has been distinguishing himself through his years at Pacifica. From his first year as Sophomore Vice President to Junior Class President to ASB President Rich has managed the business and responsibility of these offices with enthusiasm and dedication.

In the field of athletics, Rich has both wrestled and played tennis as Mariner. He was a member of French Club and German Club while maintaining the academic standing that has made him a Seal Bearer.

Rich has proven to be a loyal Mariner whether it be in government, sports, club activities or academics. We salute you, Rich, as a Most Worthy Mariner.

Teresa Mayr is an uncommon Mariner. With a quiet voice, warm smile and unassuming attitude she came to Pacifica three years ago, and has since left a mark few students will ever equal. She has belonged to Math Club, Pep Club and German Club. She also served as president of German Club in her junior year. Teresa has maintained her position on the Honor Roll for three years and also belongs to the California Scholarship Federation.

As a junior, Teresa was elected to the office of Class Activities Commissioner. Her talent in this field later led her to run successfully for ASB Activities Commissioner. She has worked tirelessly in this position, striving not for the welfare of a few, but for Pacifica as a whole.

Teresa indeed has earned the title Most Worthy Mariner.

Terry Kubicka, Figure Skater

The world of international athletics was invaded this year by Mariner Terry Kubicka. Terry's agility, form and grace on ice skates helped him catch second place in the National Senior Men's Figure Skating Championship held last January in Providence, Rhode Island, in a spectacular come from behind triple lux maneuver, never before attempted in competition. This insured his position of the U.S. World Team. Terry traveled to Munich, Germany for that competition.

Terry, a senior, has been placing in national figure skating competition since his freshman year when he took first in the National Novice Men Division. The following year Terry was the National Junior Men's Champ and he placed fourth last year in his first National Senior Men's competition.

We're proud to claim you as a Mariner, Terry!

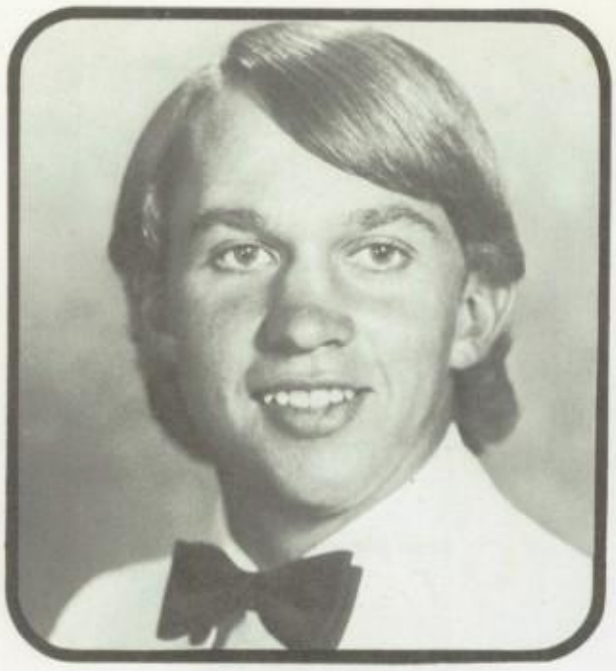
Poise, Personality, Appearance



Bill Serr, Pete Younger Memorial Award Winner

An outstanding all-around Mariner is Bill Serr. Probably best noted around campus for his athletic endeavors, his achievements and contributions on campus are far reaching.

Academically, Bill is unique. He was named Scholar of the Year twice after being Scholar of the Quarter on three separate occasions. He is also a member of the California Scholarship Federation, and has received department awards in both Spanish and Mathematics. On the student government scene, Bill was elected CASC alternate as a junior and served as a Student Senator part of his senior year. Also involved in sports, Bill has played second base on the varsity baseball team since he was a sophomore. This year he earned another varsity letter in basketball.

Bill has proven himself an outstanding Mariner in the fields of Scholarship, leadership and athletics. He is indeed worthy of the PETE YOUNGER MEMORIAL AWARD.

There Was a Time

I lived, along with the others, encased in my protective glass bubble.

We were not unhappy, and when it rained we remained untouched.

We were protected from the wind, the cold and any harm that might befall us.

I stepped into the naked air once, just to feel the sensation.

I never returned to my shell, and when it rains, I get wet.

But, now, I am truly alive!

A Lonely Road

The road was dark and forboding, the silence menacing. There had not been another car for miles. I began to wish that I could be on the main highway instead of on this lonely road. My nerves stretched to the breaking point. I turned on the car radio to relieve the stillness. The music was just what I needed to make me feel better, to take my mind off the threat of the blackness that engulfed me.

Suddenly, in the beam of my headlights, I saw a woman in the road, waving frantically for me to stop. Although I was in a hurry, I was forced to stop; had I swerved to avoid her, I would have ended up on the soft shoulder. The hood of her car was up, and she was having trouble with the engine. "Too bad it wasn't a man who stopped for you," I said. "I don't know a spark plug from a condenser. But hop in; I'll take you to where there's a phone."

My passenger was rather shy and didn't talk much, but the radio was still on, so conversation really didn't seem necessary.

Then, the radio announcer interrupted with a special news bulletin:

"This is a warning to all persons living in and around the area of Valley Ridge. Less than thirty minutes ago, Lena Rowles, a convicted murderess, escaped from the Valley Ridge Prison. This woman might possibly be carrying a weapon and is considered dangerous. She is a brunette, five feet five, weighing 120 pounds. She will be easy to identify, however, as she is missing her right arm. I repeat: this woman is dangerous; If you see her, do not try to approach her yourself; call the nearest police station. This has been a KROS News Bulletin. Now back to our regular programming." The music resumed with the same soft tune.

All of a sudden I realized the impact of what I had just heard. I glanced over at the woman beside me. She was pressing her body up against the right hand door, as if to move away from me. Her eyes stared straight ahead, as though she hadn't heard, but I knew she had; her expression was now changed, somehow. In my head, the announcer kept repeating his warning over and over: "This woman is considered dangerous." Oh, why had he said that, why had I picked this woman up, what was I going to do now? She made a sudden movement in her seat, and I stiffened. I could not tell what was going through her mind; her eyes seemed veiled and blank. My driving was becoming erratic. I had to calm down. Unbelievable fears swept over me, and I knew I had to figure something out quickly.

She couldn't do anything now, not while I was driving; that would be stupid. Or would it? She might try a quick jump or a grab for the wheel. Wait! I had a feeling something like this might happen on this forsaken road. I've got a gun under the seat, on the right hand side. I could just grab it quickly and shoot, or tell her to jump out or something. Maybe I could do it; Maybe it would work.

It would be difficult, though. You see, I have only one arm.

The Anthill

The sun shines down on the coarsedirt. To the right and left young, wispy trees sway in the playful wind, and small animals scurry through the underbrush. In the center is a large clearing where a young man looks up. Before him is a huge, ceaselessly convulsing pile of people: people squirming, fighting, and jostling each other. The Heap of Humanity.

The wind plays with his sandy hair. Determination glints in his blue eyes. He starts to climb. He finds a handhold and lifts himself up. The going is easy as he climbs over the half-literate workers at the bottom, and the hard hats of the next level. He grabs the collar of a ruddy faced man and pulls himself higher, pushing the other man down in the effort.

The going is harder now. He's not as young as he used to be. His hair is thining and his midsection widening. He gasps a breath and steps on a man's face while trying to find a higher foothold. Sorry, buddy. He sees a friend above him. Hey Tom! Could you do me a favor? He clutches the outstretched hand and grabs onto the coatsleeve as he is lifted a little higher. The people he is lifted above cry silently at him with anguished faces, but he puts them out of his mind. They don't matter-all that matters is that he is that much higher. He pauses to catch his breath. He's tired - so damn tired - but he can't stop now, he's just started to really move, really get ahead.

He wrestles his friend's head down and climbs onto his now prone back to reach up a little higher. Sorry Tom, but the opportunity was there - it's a dog eat dog world - survival of the fittest - don't you see? Oh God, Tom. Don't look at me like that. People are clawing at him, trying to climb on him, to pull him down. He's near the top now, and competition is ferocious.

The Top. His heart thrills at the thought and makes him even more determined. He pushes people out of the way. He grabs an arm above him and breaks it so that he can grab where that hand was holding. He pulls himself up, head, shoulders above the rest. He kicks at the people clinging to him, trying to hold him back. He's free, he's made it! THE TOP! He looks down on the squirming pile and kicks a man away who is climbing too close. He smiles grimly.

His hair is white now; he's spent his whole life scrambling up the pile, but it was worth it. He has money in his pockets and power in his control. He's at the Top. There's a twinge in his chest - that damn angina again. He takes a couple of nitroglycerin pills, but the pain refuses to be stopped. It spreads through his chest, up over his shoulder and down his left arm. His face turns ashen grey, his eyes glaze. No. . . . NO! I can't die now, I just made it, I. . . The pain engulfs his brain, his mind spins, blacks out, he gasps, and dies.

His soul separates and rises toward Heaven while his body flutters drily off the pile like a dead leaf.

agony

Alone in the world, having an itch where I could not gracefully scratch,
I experienced agony -
The growing pain of undreamed dreams, a rubber band stretched to the limit.
Walking down a hill on a rainy day, I slipped on a banana and fell into a mud puddle.
But what was that to me? I had already done the wrong page for my homework, My sister's cat had come in at 4 A.M. and sneezed all over me, and someone had thrown up in my car.
I wished those precious moments might have gone on forever, but knew they could not.
So, leaving the ninety-degree weather outside, I listened to a chemistry lecture for an hour.
My friends, there is an unending supply of agony in life,
I know this well.
Once, in a strange town, knowing no one, aware that nothing better
Was yet to come, I accepted an invitation as Euell Gibbons' dinner guest.
It was there, while sipping tea,
Made from goat dung, that I was offered a job as Yul Brynner's hairdresser.
Because of my occupation, a jock picked a fight with me, and I ended up in a plaster cast -
Once more unable to scratch where I itched. . .

The Memory Of You

The air is still so fresh and clean,
The trees have grown so strong and green,
How lovely was this peaceful scene and the time I shared with you.

I can't forget how much we cared
I can't replace the love we shared Remembering all the things we dared such a long long time ago

Now I sit beneath the stars
Now my mind reveals its scars
My memory locked behind steel bars and the key lost in my heart

If only time could have been changed
If now and then were rearranged Perhaps new thoughts could be exchanged and our love begin anew

Hi! Right now I'm in Civics. Boy, have I got alot to tell you. I met a real winner this morning. Talk about brain-washed, she probably wakes up to the roar of Kelloggs Rice Krispies every morning. And get this her name is Betty Crocker.

We met on the bus to school. I introduced myself and then all at once she whispers, "Aren't you glad you used Dial, don't you wish everybody did!" Well, I was shocked to say the least, but that was just the beginning!

Because she's new at school, I decided I'd show her around. You know that little pine tree at the corner? Well, when she saw it she ran over and started picking off parts of the tree! It seems her favorite author is Euell Gibbons. Just before the bell rang, I asked her if she would like a doughnut. She said, "No thank-you". They had run out of Cream of Wheat at her house, so she was forced to eat five bowls of the other brand to get enough iron! Brother!

I met her again on the way to second period. We were walking the same way, when we passed Mrs. Randall. I introduced them to each other and then I was so embarrased because Betty casually remarked, "Mrs. Randall, you've got Legg's!" I could have died! Then it was just my luck to get stuck with her as a partner for tennis in P.E. Crud, she was sickening. She kept hopping and limping whenever the ball came her way. Finally I politely inquired as to what was wrong, and the excuse she gave me is so ridiculous that I've decided she really is a fruit cake. She said that she tripped over the speeding bulge under their kitchen rug when she was getting the Chuck Wagon for her dog. Can you believe it?!

But to top it off, in drama class Mr. Kelishes told us to go up on the stage and do anything we wanted, sing, dance, read a poem. When Betty went up, I was expecting something unique, but I wasn't quite prepared for, "I'm Chi-quita Banana and I come to say. . . . " And she literally started to PEEL!

Oh dear, Avis is watching me, so I'd. . . .

"Lori!"

"Yes, Mr. Avis"

"Why are you sitting there doing nothing?"

"But, Mr. Avis I am doing something! I'm cleaning my bathroom bowl!"

The Mariner Varsity Football Team, under the leadership of quarterback Tab Fipps, compiled a 6-3 record as they moved ahead to clinch the Garden Grove league title. Fipps led the league in passing and had the highest percentage of any passer until injured against Garden Grove. Backup quarterback Don Winterrowd did a good job standing in for the injured Fipps. Other offensive standouts were: tight end Eric Jones making clutch receptions and Mark Mobley the unstopable fullback and third highest scorer in the county. Also adding to the running game were the "Bobcats," Garcia and Marquez, along with sophomore back Kevin Lindholm.

On the defensive side of the line, led by hardhitting linebackers, Kirshner and Ressler, was tackle John Marsh, and middleguard Mark Devore. Also helping out as linebacker, as well as defensive end was Hank "Cowboy" Taylor.

The Varsity Coaching Staff, anchored by headcoach Art Michalik with coaches, Buonocore, Gereb, and Cravens, did a fine job or of organizing this young team into a champion contender.

Many lettermen will be returning, so that next year, with dedicated athletes and Mariner Pride, P.H.S. will be high in the running for another league title.

·VARSITY· TRACK

The Mariner Varsity Track team got off to a good start by defeating rivals Rancho and Santiago with impressive scores. Leading the P.H.S. running attack was miler Bill Graves, hurdler Ed DeMarco, high jumper Ed Knorzer, along with Doug Parrell, Corky Meyers, Joe Hammond, Doug Bockmiller, "Cat" Stephens, and many others.

Coaches Waddell, Ybarra, Devian and Scroggins have done a fine job of shaping this team into a group of fine performers.

Middle Row: Bass, Flyde, Cox, Zoscak, Hammond, McNeil, Jones, Parrell, Bojko, Filipi, Thompson.
Back Row: Marcovatch, Lewis, Meyers, Delgadillo, DeMarco, Livingston, Graves, Stetsel, Challer, Buchheim, Bockmiller, Jay, Hanks.

The many faces of Donnell

The Mariner athletic director, Mr. Larry O'Donnell, was born in Rockford Illinois and brought up on a farm with his two sisters and brother. There he attended a "small" high school with an enrollment of 75 students. He participated in six man football, basketball, and baseball. In his senior year he was 11th in the nation for passing yardage and touchdowns.

From Mr. O'Donnell's graduation in 1955 he went on to attend Northern Illinois University with his major in Physical Education and minor in Psychology. At the University he went out for football, but was injured and has never played again. Although he did participate in wrestling and boxing.

The next stop for Mr. O'Donnell after college graduation was a teaching position at Hiawatha High School in Illinois. He also coached football, basketball and baseball. In the summer months he would work with the local youth in teen activities.

Mr. O'Donnell came to Garden Grove in 1965. In his first at Pacifica he taught math and coached the wrestling team. In his second year at Pacifica he became athletic director and has held that position ever since.

Mr. O'Donnell is now married and has four children. His interests include preparing signs and posters for his work, skiing, tennis and other sports.

Through his work at Pacifica, Mr. O'Donnell, is trying to bring P.E. out of its old mold by creating new adventures.

Pacifica's Co-Ed theme for 1974 was "Precious and Few". Held at the beautiful Balboa Pavilion with exciting boat rides offered, the dance was a romantic evening for all those who attended. A highlight of the dance was the music provided by Santa Ana J.C.'s band. The Co-Ed climaxed at 10:00 when Eric Jones was crowned Pacifica's '74 Co-Ed King. The dance glided to a stop at twelve o'clock and everyone slipped out the door for an early morning breakfast.

"That George is real L-7!,,

"What a dapper babe!"

"Old man Pearson is real cool.

"Butch is taking me to the hop!"

"Let's bip to Sully's."

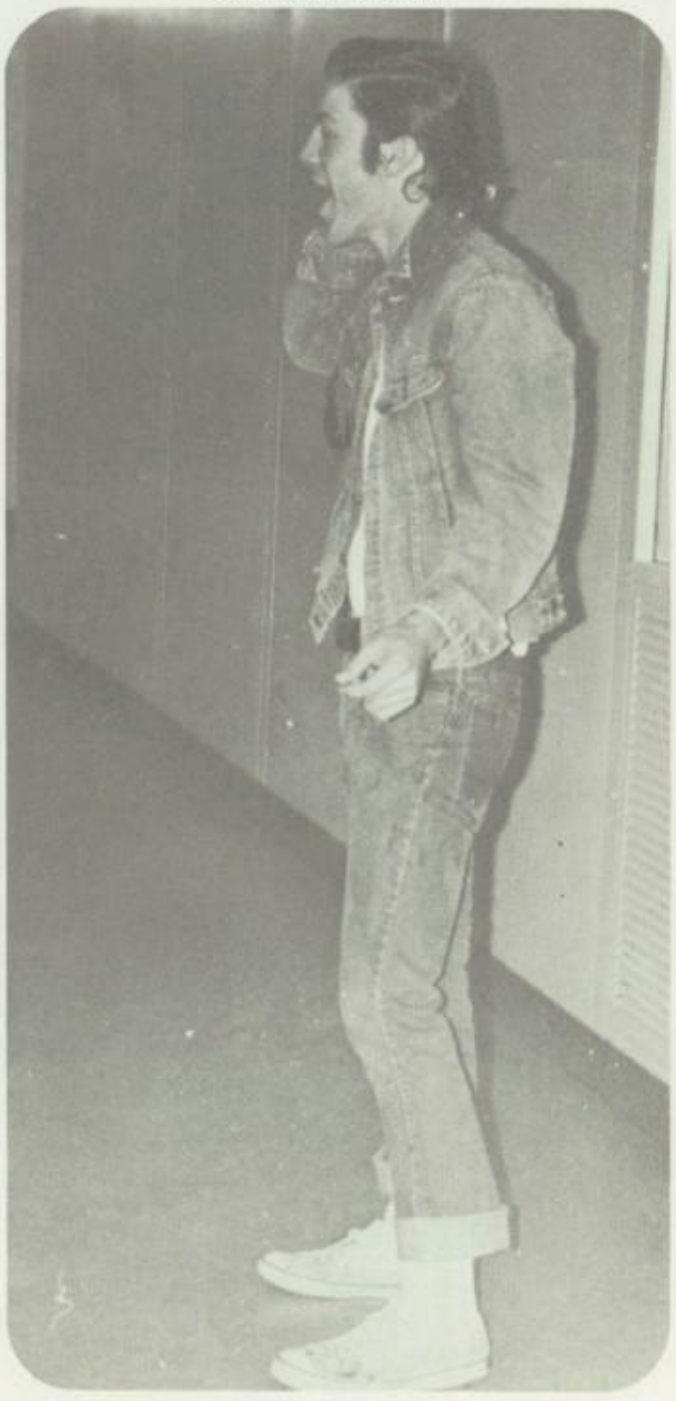
"Isn't Debbie a crazy chick?"

"This joint is Dullsville, man!"

"Dig that chick's threads!"

"Get that spiffy hairdo!"

"Dig that beat!"



"Isn't Mark boss?"

The battle of the century had started, Faculty vs. Seniors, Donkey vs. Donkey. Shots were attempted, the Seniors missed, the Faculty didn't. At the half the seniors were down by six, but with the hard work of the senior players, and able assistance of the game scorekeeper, the seniors were down by only 2 with seconds to go. In those last waning moments a perfect pass downcourt. Under the basket, the seniors shot once, missed, twice, missed, three times, missed. Buzzer! The Faculty had won 48 to 46.

The Unsinkable Molly Brown

The story of 'The Unsinkable Molly Brown' is a tale of the courage, determination and never-say-die spirit that made America great. It deals with the life of the fabulous lady of the mining frontier of the West who rose from humble beginnings to a position of international fame and who crowned her achievements with a feat of extraordinary heroism.

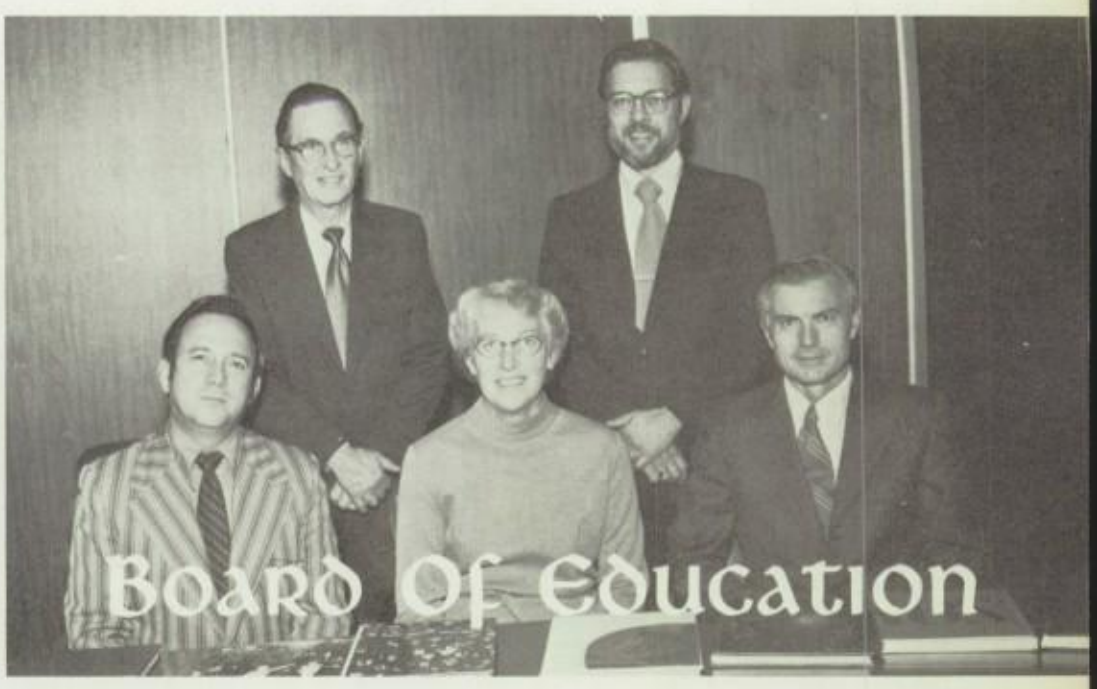
Board of Education



Many of us knew Donald Wash well, some less intimately, and some were meeting him for the first time. No backward glances were mentioned by him, he was merely a man expressing his thoughts on life and the education of youth. Our deep appreciation for Donald Robert Wash, our past school superintendent will be everlasting.

MUTT AND JEFF

While the ninth volume of THE REEF was being assembled, I realized that its completion would not only mark the end of the spring semester, but would also signify a new beginning for the class of '74, a beginning in which we will be forced to break away from the secure environment of Pacifica High School and enter the competitive world outside.

As I look back, my years at Pacifica have already taken on a dreamlike quality. The future, which often seemed like an unachievable goal, is now here, and all of the hopes and aspirations that I had for THE REEF at the beginning of fall semester have materialized.

In putting together this year's REEF, we tried to capture not only the school events and activities, but also the spirit of the people that made them happen, and the natural beauty that surrounds all of us always.

Without you, the student body and faculty, there would be no REEF. I would like to express my deepest appreciation to my co-editor, Carol Glaser, and to the many other people-staff and non-staff alike-who contributed their time and efforts into making THE REEF what we feel is the greatest yearbook ever.

There were many times this year that I felt THE REEF would never be finished, but the positive attitude and extreme patience of our advisor, Mr. Michael Sullivan, helped us over our rough spots. He is the real backbone of THE REEF, and my heartfelt thanks must go to him. Also I will be forever grateful to my former English teacher, and our present Activities Director, Mr. Thomas Furey, for having taken an interest in me and having first recommended me to THE REEF staff.

The yesterdays you see in this book are already a dream, and tomorrow is still a vision. Live well today, and that vision will be one of hope, beauty, and success.

People. That's what The Reef is all about. People coming and going and doing. People feeling and reaching and helping. People laughing and flunking and yelling. People living. This year was a merging of 2200 different lives and trying to make it work, learning in the process. In this yearbook we tried to capture the emotion of 1973-74, not just the names and faces. I would like to thank Mr. Sullivan, our advisor and the entire staff for doing this, but more important, the people of Pacifica, because without them none of this would be real.

Carol Glaser

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank everyone who helped to make the 1973-74 REEF possible. Our special thanks must go to the following people:

Mr. Dick Beam and Mr. Charlie Groutage of Robert's Portraits, for all of their time and creative efforts.

Bill Mings for his excellent photography used in the sports section of THE REEF.

Bob Nishi for the photographs in the senior section. He really helped us out in our time of need.

Jeff "flash" holmes our student photographer, for providing the staff with great pictures.

Our special thanks must go to Mr. Will Wolf for his unique photo essays in the introduction, and also for the creative picture on our cover.

Terry McCafferty for the original poem throughout the introduction.

Bobby Hamilton & Joe Hammond our staff artists, for the many hours they spent on the art work that is in THE REEF.

Mrs. Rhoda Randall for all of the help she gave us in going over the literature for the Art & Literature section of our book.

Miss Mary Ann Wenda for helping us gather art work for THE REEF.

Terry Haymond our yearbook representative for all of his help. He was always there with new ideas.

The entire faculty for their cooperation in letting students out of class in order to meet their deadlines. Your help was greatly appreciated.

The 1974 Reef Staff for the many devoted hours they spent on making THE REEF the success that it is.

We have saved the best for last and that is Mr. Michael Sullivan our advisor. He was always there when we needed him. We don't know what we would have done without you "Sully"

Dave,
finally made it out here, you're still stuck
here, I feel sorry for you, but you'll be stoked as soon as you get out. Will take it easy and make it down to the beach this summer.
